DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restriction

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-40, drawn to microarray of nucleic acids, classified in class 536, subclass 22.1+.
  - II. Claims 41-51, drawn to activated slides, classified in class 502, subclass 180+.
  - III. Claims 52-54, drawn to method of activation of slides, classified in class 585, subclass 906+.
  - IV. Claims 55-83, drawn to method of making microarray, classified in class 536, subclass 25.3.
  - V. Claims 84-104, drawn to method of nucleic acids hybridization, classified in class 435, subclass 6.

2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions of Groups I and II and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions of microarray of nucleic acids of Group I are not disclosed as capable of use together with activated slides of Group II and method of activation of slides of Group III and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects.

Art Unit:

3. Inventions of Groups I and IV are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case, the microarray of Group I can be made by method of Group IV or by photolithography or by computerized process.
4. Inventions of Groups I and V are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case, the microarray of nucleic acids of Group I can be used in method of nucleic acids hybridization of Group V or to produce RNA and protein or to produce antisense nucleic acid for gene therapy.
5. Inventions of Groups II and III are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case In the instant case, the activated slide of Group II can be made by method of Group III or by photolithography or by computerized process or by heating.

Art Unit:

6. Inventions of Groups II and IV and V are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions of activated slide are not disclosed as capable of use together with method of making microarray of Group IV or method of nucleic acids hybridization of Group V and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects.
7. Inventions of Groups III and IV and V are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions of method of activation of Group III are not disclosed as capable of use together with method of making microarray of Group IV or method of nucleic acids hybridization of Group V and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects.
8. Inventions of Groups IV and V are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions of method of making microarray of Group IV are not disclosed as capable of use together with method of nucleic acids hybridization of Group V and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects.

Art Unit:

9. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

10. A telephone call was made to Deirdre Conley on October 29, 2001 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CAR 1.143).

11. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CAR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 CAR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CAR 1.17(I).

Conclusion
